FLOYD GRANGER WRITES INTERESTING LETTER

Camp Cody, N. M.
Dec. 16, 1918

Dear Friends:

I guess you think I have forgotten all about you, but that isn't the reason I haven't written before now. In other words it was neglect on my part. Well, how are you all these fine days? I guess that the boys are starting to come home from the way the papers state. I guess I will be the last one of the gang to get back from the way they need the trucks these days. Within three weeks we will be on our way to another camp, but whether they will turn us loose from there is a hard thing to say.

They have sent home the entire division and they are mustering out the camp organizations, but poor motor truck company, is not among them.

Of late we have had our share of snow storms and by morning I think it wil be snowing again. This time last year we were sure having some sand storms and from the way I wrote I guess you know how we appreciated them.

Had a fire here the other day and we nearly lost one of the outfit. While he was soldering a gas tank it blew up and within a second he was a mass of flames, but to his luck that we are among the sands of the U. S., we soon put the fire out. They tell us that he will be scared for the rest of his life. Then it was up to us to go back to the Redwood way of fighting fire and in a few minutes we had the fire out that had been raging in the building.

We give our usual dances at Deming and sure have some time. Outside of the dances we have very little recreation.

Received a letter from Mr. Britton the other day stating that as soon as I present myself to the gas company I would find a job awaiting me.

Five airplanes went through here the other day headed for Washington and as they were going I thought I was back in Redwood as it had been so long since I saw one of them.

As news is a thing of the past in this camp, I will have to put this letter to a close, hoping these few lines will find you all in the best of health and hoping to bid you all a how-do-you-do in the near future, I am as ever,

DEMING

D Is for the dust that we breath in Camp Cody,
E E is for the eggs we fear.
M Is for the mountains that surround us,
I Is for that Influnza.
N Is for the nights that are so chilly,
G Is for the girls that we never see.

Put them all together they spell DEMING. A word that sounds like HELL to me.

Yours sincerely,
FLOYD GRANGER.

CANNING COMPANY HOPES TO SECURE TRACT OF LAND

The Pratt-Lowe Canning Company of San Jose has for some time been seeking a location near the line of the Dumbarton Railroad near town, to start a large cannery . It was stated yesterday that the concern had received an option on a strip of land between the Southern Pacific Co. and the highway, near town and would close the deal in a short time. The company has a large plant at San Jose, one at Pescadero and several others in different parts of the State. The concern makes a specialty of canning vegetables. They will employ several hundred men and women during the canning season. The president of the company says he is sure of plenty of help in Redwood City during the busy season. He wanted a plant at Redwood City in order to receive vegetables from the San Joaquin valley over the Dumbarton railroad. The president says that everything is favorable here for a successful canning business. He has had his eye on Redwood City for a long time. The concern is incorporated for $150,000.

MATTER OF FORMING UNION DISTRICT TO BE DISCUSSED

Superintendent of Schools Roy W. Cloud has called a meeting of the trustees of the Redwood City, San Carlos and Belmont school districts to be held in the office of the local grammar school next Friday night. The matter of forming a union district will be discussed. Mr. Cloud wishes to have school maintained in the lower grades at San Carlos and Belmont as at present and wishes to have the pupils of the sixth, seventh and Eighth grades brought to Redwood City Central school. Should his plan be adopted by the people of the three districts the upper grade children would have the advantage of manual training, domestic science, physical instruction, music and drawing all taught by special teachers. Union school districts are not a new thing as they have been tried and found successful all over the country. The idea of having the smaller children remain in their home schools, however, is a new departure.

ALEX F. GOMEZ RECOVERING FROM HIS INJURIES

Alex F. Gomez, grandson of Mrs. John Kearse and brother of Faxon Gomez of this city, who was wounded writes the folowing letter to his aunt here, Mrs. H. Jamieson:

Somewhere in England
Nov. 21, 1918.

My dear Aunt:

I supose that you have received my other letter before now, telling of my being wounded. At present I am getting along very nicely. My head is much better but my arm is still very bad and I have lost all use of it, but the doctor thinks that it will be alright later. All the American wounded in this hospital expect to leave here tomorrow for an American hospital. We do not know just where we are going, but just to know we are starting homeward is enough for us. There was a tremendous celebration in England over the peace news, such a time England will never those in the hospital that night, but we did not mind. I must mention the great amount of good work done by the Red Cross over here. Everywhere and in every large city we passed, we had evidence of its wonderful work, and every soldier, especially the wounded ones, has been made happy by them.

I hope Grandma and all of you are in good health. I expect to meet you soon.

With love to all,
Your loving nephew,
ALEX F. GOMEZ

THE MOTHER CALLS

(By DANIEL E. DORAN.)

Written for the Christmas Roll Call of the American Red Cross.

And unheeding pass her by?
Who can hear her soft voice falling,
Hear her artless pleading cry,
Know her heart is sad with grieving,
Know her eyes are filled with tears
And go by her, unperceiving
Down the weary, dreary years?

Listen then, for she is calling,
Greatest Mother of the World,
She has seen the tear drops falling
Where her banners are unfurled,
She has heard her strong crying,
Yea, her noble sons and true,
She has seen them wounded, dying
And this day she calls to you.

Aye, she calls, the Greatest Mother,
And her cry breaks on the heart,
With a sadness that no other
Half so poignant can impart;
Aye, she calls and you must hear her,
You must quell her doubt and fear,
Heed that call and draw ye near her,
Heed that cry and answer "Here!"

The splendid reception accorded President Wilson by the French people on his arrival in that country, plainly showed their apreciation of the part played by America in the war. The people are outspoken in their declaration that this country won the war. It is refreshing to hear them hail Mr. Wilson as the savior of France. He certainly was. Had not America entered the conflict when it did the allies would have been defeated and no one knows this better than France. She was about exhausted, as were her allies, when the big brother across the seas took a hand in the fearful struggle and with a strong blow decided the war in favor of the allies. France saved the day for America in the war of independence and the United States has saved France in the World's war. The slate is now clean. The clash of arms has cemented their affection and long may both republics go down the ages arm in arm in the peaceful pursuit of happiness and prosperity.

U. S. HEALTH SERVICE ISSUES WARNING

Inorease in All Respiratory Diseases After the Influenza Epidemic Probable.

Influenza Expected to Lurk for Months. How to Guard Against Pneumonia. Common Colds Highly Catching—Importance of Suitable Clothing—Could Save 100,000 Lives.

Washington, D. C.—With the subsidence of the epidemic of influenza the attention of health officers is directed to pneumonia, bronchitis and other diseases of the respiratory system which regularly cause a large number of deaths, especially during the winter season. According to Rupert Blue, Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service, these diseases will be especially prevalent this winter unless the people are particularly careful to obey health instructions.

"The present epidemic," said Surgeon General Blue, "has taught by bitter experience how readily a condition beginning apparently as a slight cold may go on to pneumonia and death. Although the worst of the epidemic is over, there will continue to be a large number of scattered cases, many of them mild and unrecognized, which will be danger spots to be guarded against." The Surgeon General likened the present situation to that after a great fire, saying, "No fire chief who understands his business stops playing the hose on the charred debris as soon as the flames and visible fire have disappeared. On the contrary, he continues the water for hours and even days, for he knows that there is danger of the fire rekindling from smoldering embers."

"Then you fear another outbreak of influenza?" he was asked. "Not necessarily another large epidemic," said the Surgeon General, "but unless the people learn to realize the seriousness of the danger they will be compelled to pay a heavy death toll from pneumonia and other respiratory diseases.

Common Colds Highly Catching.

"It is encouraging to observe that people are beginning to learn that ordinary coughs and colds are highly catching and are spread from person to person by means of droplets of germ laden mucus. Such droplets are sprayed into the air when careless or ignorant people cough or sneeze without covering their mouth and nose. It is also good to know that people have learned something about the value of fresh air. In summer, when people are largely out of doors, the respiratory diseases (coughs, colds, pneumonia, etc.) are infrequent; in the fall, as people begin to remain indoors, the respiratory diseases increase; in the winter, when people are prone to stay in badly ventilated, overheated rooms, the respiratory diseases become very prevalent.

Suitable Clothing Important.

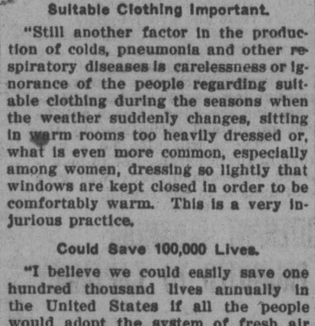
"Still another factor in the production of colds, pneumonia and other respiratory diseases is carelessness or ignorance of the people regarding suitable clothing during the seasons when the weather suddenly changes, sitting in warm rooms too heavily dressed or, what is even more common, especially among women, dressing so lightly that windows are kept closed in order to be comfortably warm. This is a very injurious practice.

Could Save 100,000 Lives.

"I believe we could easily save one hundred thousand lives annually in the United States if all the people would adopt the system of fresh air living followed, for example, in tuberculosis sanatoria. There is nothing mysterious about it—no specific medicine, no vaccine. The important thing is right living, good food and plenty of fresh air.

Droplet Infection Explained in Pictures.

"The Bureau of Public Health, Treasury Department, has just issued a striking poster drawn by Berryman, the well-known Washington cartoonist. The poster exemplifies the modern method of health education. A few years ago, under similar circumstances, the health authorities would have issued an official dry but scientifically accurate bulletin teaching the role of droplet infection in the spread of respiratory diseases. The only ones who would have understood the bulletin would have been those who already knew all about the subject. The man in the street, the plain citizen and the many millions who toil for their living would have had no time and no desire to wade through the technical phraseology."



COLDS, INFLUENZA, PNEUMONIA, AND TUBERCULOSIS ARE SPREAD THIS WAY

THE WAR IS OVER,
Now for a Happy, Practical Christmas

The war taught the American people thrift and economy. With the coming of peace the vigilance to conserve should not be lessened.

Everyone should continue to save as much as possible of money, food and time for the further subscription to the great amount of charitable and social work necessary to relieve the distress in Europe and improve conditions in this country.

Users of electricity have at their finger tips the agency for conserving essentials needed in the work of reconstruction.

An ELECTRICAL APPLIANCE for a Christmas gift is useful the year round and saves time and money to devote to readjustment work.

Ask your electrical contractor dealer to demonstrate the many essential electrical appliances.

CALIFORNIA AND CALIFORNIANS

BY GENERAL JOHN F. SHEEHAN

Founder of San Francisco Marches Across the Colorado Desert With Many Families.

While it is conceded that Junipero Serra was the "Father of California," the term "The Founder of San Francisco" can be as justly bestowed upon Juan Bautista Anza, who was known as the "Captain of Tubac." After Portola reported the discovery of the bay of San Francisco and the establishment of Missions at San Diego and Monterey, there was much comment thereupon in Mexico, but the first person to take cognizance of the possible commercial value of the new harbor was Juan B. Anza, Captain of Tubac, an isolated military garrison far away in the desert of Arizona. Captain Anza volunteered to equip an expedition to open an overland trail to the new country of California. The authorities at Mexico City evidently remembered the discouraging reports of the pioneers of the desert in an earlier period, Fathers Kino and Coronado, and for a while deemed the project impracticable; but when on Junipero Serra's conference with Viceroy Bucareli in 1773 the latter broached the subject, the former recommended it as a possible necessity for communication with California, inasmuch as the sea route was slow and uncertain, and the project was approved.

Anza cut out "Camino del Diablo" (The Devil's Highway) as Portola created "El Camino Real" (The King's Highway.) It was Anza who brought the men, women and children who first peopled San Francisco and Santa Clara Valley and who were the progenitors of very many of the chivalrous dons and charming maidens of the first half of the 19th century who enraptured the few stray visitors to this far away coast, like Dana and Robinson and the Russian Rezanoff, and caused California to be called the land of dolce far niente, and surely for a generation or more its people were the embodiment of "sweet idleness." The party of Anza's soldiers as well as pobladors (settlers,) in most instances brought their families, including many young children; and to these California owes such illustrious names as Moraga, Alviso, Peralta Bojorques, Pacheco, Garcia, Guitterrez, De Soto, Valencia, Alvarez, Sanchez, Arellano, Castro, Bernal, Vasquez, Pico, Lopez, Gonzales, Galindo, Berreyessa, et al. Those ancestors of the delightful Californians of Dana's time braved dangers correspondingly as great as the men and women who three-quarters of a century later crossed the plains and the Rocky Mountains in ox carts and on foot and met starvation, disaster and death from the Platte to the lake of Donner. The Mexican Spaniards were harassed by the death dealing Apaches, were scorched in the burning sands of Arizona and the Colorado desert and wearied by the terrible tramp over the Camino del Diablo, before they reached the land of flowers and sunshine in the beautiful valleys of California.

Although the subject of the Missions has been a favorite one with every writer on California, the history of the State's first settlement is practically unknown to the present generation, and when it is fully digested the name of Juan B. Anza will take second place only to Junipero Serra. Anza was not only a gallant soldier but a man of business and statesmanlike character. He evidently saw into the future. While crossing the desert of Sonora and Arizona he heard of the discovery of the great bay on the upper coast of California, and he made an offer to the Viceroy to equip an expedition of 20 men and create a highway from Mexico to the land so glowingly described by Portola and Serra. His dream was to found a great city on the shores of the bay of San Francisco—and while our generation is cognizant of the accomplishment of the dream but few are aware that such a person as Anza existed.

After some objections and obstructions Captain Anza finally organized his expedition at Tubac and proceeded on his march on January 8, 1774. The force besides the leader consisted of two Franciscan monks, Padres Diaz and Garces, 20 soldiers, besides guides and muleteers, 34 persons in all, 140 saddle and pack animals and 65 head of beef cattle.

Tubac was a presidio established by the Government of Mexico, and the only white people there were those of the garrison under the command of Captain Anza. It is on the map of the present day in the State of Arizona, lying on the Santa Cruz river, some 30 miles north of the city of Nogales on the border, and about 60 miles south of Tucson. It has at present a population of 1000.

Shortly after starting the expedition was attacked by the watchful marauding Apaches, who detached and carried away many of the animals, compelling the leader to make a detour to the southwest as far as Altar, Mexico, a distance of 125 miles. Here they obtained a supply of fresh horses, and again set out for the Gila River, the general course of which was followed to its junction with the Colorado near the present town of Yuma. Here they were hospitably received by Chief Palma of the Yuma tribe of Indians, who assisted them across the Colorado into the present State of California, and accompanied them until the party reached the environment of a hostile tribe. But the worst was now to come. A desert waste lay before them unknown to white men. Anza had with him a Lower California Indian named Sebastian who accompanied the Portola party on the trip to San Francisco, but who deserted from the Mission of San Gabriel and made his way to Yuma. But Sebastian left no trail, and was of little use to the expedition. The terrors of this march over the burning sands and waterless wastes of the Colorado desert can be better imagined than described. Traveling directly west would have led them to San Diego, but it was decided to pursue a northwest course toward the San Jacinto mountains. The party at one time was lost in the desert and turned back to seek further aid and advice from Chief Palma. But Anza like Serra was made of stern stuff, and he knew his goal; even the terrors of the Colorado desert would not deter him. After traversing mountains of sand and at times below sea level, the party reached the base of the San Jacinto mountains on March 11th and on the 22nd were received with open arms by the missionaries and guards at San Gabriel Mission in the heart of the beautiful valley of our present Los Angeles county. On April 10th Anza resumed the march for Monterey, following the route of Portola over El Camino Real, and reaching Monterey on the 18th of April, 1774, having made about 100 leagues from San Gabriel in remarkable time. At the Royal Presidio he found Lieutenant Fages, acting Governor for Barri, Father Serra not having returned to Monterey from Mexico. But the Mission of his first trip was accomplished. He had conquered the desert and found Monterey, and it not being the nature of Anza to delay, after resting four days the Captain with his party started back to report to the authorities of Mexico that the overland route was feasible and that he was prepared to outfit a second expedition for the settlement of San Francisco Bay.

On his return trip, near Santa Barbara, Anza met Father Serra who was trudging his way back from San Diego after his arrival from Mexico. The two conferred and agreed upon future work for the settlement of California. Anza left San Gabriel May 3rd, and reached Yuma on the 10th, passing Tucson on the 25th, arriving at Tubac on the 27th day of May, 1774.

SUPERVISORS MEET IN REGULAR SESSION.

The board of supervisors met in regular session Monday ,December 16, at 10 a. m., there being present Dr. C. V. Thompson, presiding, T. L. Hickey, W. H. Brown, John MacBain and Jos. M. Francis.

A communication was received from the Social Service Commission, making recommendations for the granting of county and state aid for several worthy cases in different parts of the county and withdrawing aid in other cases.

On motion of Brown, seconded by Hickey, that part of the report affecting a Half Moon May family and a Pescadero family was accepted, two other cases were held up pending further investigation and the clerk was directed to notify the Commission that a San Mateo woman whose aid had been temporarily withdrawn, was back in that city and was therefor entitled to continuance of her allowance.

The following additional offers of sites for the new county hospital were received:

Frank S. Grummon, 30 acres one mile southwest of the city of San Mateo, property known as Lynch ranch, $25,000.

David Solari ,36 acres in Redwood City, $36,000.

C. M. Doxsee, trustee, 25.67 acres one mile west of Redwood City, property known as "Laurel Terrace, $400 per acre.

The offers were received and ordered filed with those already sumbitted and awaiting inspection by the board and the advisory committee.

Superintendent of Schools Roy W. Cloud addressed the board and asked than an apropriation be made for covering the preliminary expenses connected with the work of the San Mateo War History Committee, of which he is chairman. The expenses, he explained, would be principally for telephone messages, furnishing of blanks and like incidentals.

It was the sense of the board that these expenses should be allowed, the understanding being that Mr. Cloud would present claims covering same in the regular manner.

A communication was received from the grand jury in which recommendation was made that temporary aid be given by the board to a worthy case in San Mateo until the inquisitorial board could investigate the reason why State aid had been withdrawn.

The recommendation of the grand jury was accepted by the board, on motion of MacBain, seconded by Brown, and the clerk was directed to notify the Social Service Commission to make an allowance to the family of $8.00 per month in addition to the $12.50 already granted.

W. J. Graef, in charge of the squirrel extermination carried on in the county under the United States Health Service and for which the county has been apropriating $500 a month, submitted a report ,showing the work that had been done from June 15, 1918 to the present time, together with a complete statement of expenses incurred in conducting the campaign during the above period. Graef suggested after reading his report that hereafter he file a monthly report with the board. The suggestion met with the aproval of the members.

The report of Graef was accepted on motion of MacBain, seconded by Hickey, and an order made that it be published in the Times-Gazette.

A petition signed by J. W. Wright and others was presented by Charles Weeks of Ravenswood, asking for the closing of a portion of Railroad avenue in North Fair Oaks tract.

Weeks was sworn and testified as to the validity of the names on the petition, following which an order was made setting the time for hearing the petition and directing the publication of same in the Redwood City Democrat.

Ordinance No. 302, creating the Board of Public Welfare in the county, was adopted, on motion of Brown, seconded by MacBain.

M. B. Charles, representing the Delco Light Product Company of San Jose submitted to the board a proposition to furnish an electric light and power plant for use at the county farm and hospital at a cost of $1360 installed and ready for use. Charles claims that he had already installed about twenty of these plants in different parts of the county and all of them were giving excellent satisfaction. He offered to install the plant, at the county farm and run same for a period of one month, at the end of which time, if it did not prove satisfactory, he would remove it without any expense to the county.

The members of the board seemed favorably impressed with the proposition, but decided to lay the matter over until next Monday when they meet in adjourned session and take up the question of hospital sites with the members of the special committee of three citizens of the county appointed for that purpose.

"JOE" BECK PASSES AWAY IN SAN FRANCISCO, AGED 41

Julius C. (Joe) Beck, brother of Louis Beck of Redwood City and Mrs. Fred Volkman of Colma, died in San Francisco Thursday. He was a native of Redwood City, 41 years old, and was widely known in this county. He is survived by his widow, Agnes Beck, and two children.

TOWN TRUSTEES HOLD LENGTHY MEETING MONDAY

The city trustees held a lengthy meting on Monday night. The present sewer system of the city engaged the city fathers for some time. For some time the trustees have fully realized the need of improving the system, but how to do it was the burning question. The matter was discussed at length. The outfall pipe on Heller street to Stambaugh street has been found too small to carry off the sewage that empties into it from the latterals.

The trustees ,after discussing the matter for considerable leigth, instructed City Engineer Dimmitt to prepare an estimate of the approximate cost of installing a septic tank system that would be adequate for the needs of Redwod City, and also to furnish an estimate of the cost of constructing a new and larger outfall pipe along Heller street, together with a new concrete box to replace the worn one at Steamberger point that the sewage empties into before being discharged into the creek.

The San Francisco and San Jose Transportation Company was given a permit to operate a freight and express business through the streets of Redwood City on its route between San Francsco and San Jose .

A communication was received from the Southern Pacific Company, relative to the petition of the Redwood City men employed , at the Schaw-Batcher Shipyards at South San Francisco, asking that south bound train No. 110 in the afternoon, stop at this city, so the men could take it and heach home at an earlier hour than at present. The company stated that the working hours of the plant had been changed, so that the above train could not be of any service to the employes and they are now being accommodated on the local trains.

In response to an urgent request from Jos. H. Nash, chairman of the local War-Savings Committee, that the city fulfill its pledge made some time ago, to purchase $1,000 in War Stamps, the board, on motion of Trustee McNulty, seconded by Trustee Jones, ordered that a warrant be drawn on the treasury sufficient to buy 200 certificates.

The board, on motion of Trustee Kreiss ,seconded by Trustee Ryan, instructed City Engineer Dimmitt and City Attorney Mansfield to prepare the necessary proceedings for the construction of 508 feet of sewer on Stambaugh stree, between Manganita and Willow streets.

HEAD

Wilbur Carnduff has been mustered out of the service. For the past year he had been in the spruce forests of Washington for the Government, getting out wood for the manufacture of airplanes. He had been in the ramy for considerably over a year. Carnduff arrived home last Saturday.

The home of Thomas A. Casey, the shoe dealer ,was broken into some time last Sunday by a miscreant and a total of over $200 in cash and goods removed. Cash in the sum of $95, a liberty bond and a gun and case were stolen. There is no clew to the robbery. A purse containing a large sum of money that lay on a table in plain view was overlooked by the robbers.

Bernard Larrecou was mustered out of the navy at New York during the week and will return to Menlo Park today. He enlisted in the navy in 1917. For some months he has been at the port of New York. He has a splendid record in the navy.

Father Carroll, the chaplain who was here with the Eighth infantry, and who left with his regiment for the front, passed away a short time ago at New York. He was only recently ordained. He made many friends while at Camp Fremont.

Mrs. Harkins, wife of the late Major Harkins, received a telegram from the war department at Washington last Friday, conveying the sad intelligence that her son, Lieutenant Henry Harkins, was wounded in battle on September 7. Mrs. Harkins received a letter from her son on October 28. He made no mention in the communication about being injured and Mrs. Harkins feels inclined to believe the government has made a mistake. The Lieutenant was last heard of from Tours, France, where he was on an important detail for the government. Henry Harkins aan his brother Dimetro, enlisted early in the war and were soon commissioned first lieutenants. Both saw active service at the front. They may remain in the service. Their father, the late Major Charles Harkins, had an honorable career in the army. He served in the Civil War and retired as a captain. His sons have inherited their father's love for the service.

John Arata, former vegetable man in and around Menlo Park, was killed in action at the Battle of Argonne Forest in October. News of his death was received during the week.

Emilio, the French baker of Mayfield, who drove a delivery wagon around Menlo up until the time of his illness, died the fore part of the week from influenza. His brother also passed away with the same malady. Both young men were highly esteemed here.

Work has begun on the new fire house to cost nearly $10,000. It is regretted that the site of this substantial building was not chosen on the main street so that it would be an ornament to the town. Very few will see it at its present location. Of course the outlay would be greater in purchasing a site on El Camino Real.

Mrs. Perry Eyre closed her Menlo Park home and with her family took possessoin of the Stewart residence on Pacific avenue, San Francisco, where they will remain for the winter.

The stork visited the home of Henry Marcus in San Francisco last Friday and left a precious baby girl. Mr. Marcus is receiving the congratulations of his numerous friends on the peninsula.
